

QUEEN FASHION WILL REIGN AT STYLE SHOW

DANCE PROGRAM

Monday afternoon—Miss Mildred Anderson.
Monday evening—Miss Ruth Parker, Myron Parker, Jr., and Miss Edna Baker.
Tuesday afternoon—Miss Jessie Herriott and Charles Morgan.
Tuesday evening—Miss Anderson, Miss Herriott, and Mr. Morgan.
Wednesday afternoon—Miss Edith Spofford, Ben Crampton, and Miss Edna Baker.
Wednesday evening—Miss Baker, Miss Spofford, and Mr. Crampton.

The Style Show and Dansant to open at Rauscher's this afternoon for the benefit of the war relief fund of the American Red Cross Society will bring out en masse the discriminating society of Washington to view the latest fashions on display by the most exclusive local shops and also to witness the new ball room dances.

Rauscher's handsome ball rooms have been converted into a fashion salon and dance pavilion lavishly decorated with cut flowers and massive banks of palms and ferns as a fitting background for the various exhibitions will be shown. The green room will be roped off for dancing, and, between the exhibition solo dances exploited by some of the best and most prominent dancers of Washington and New York the patrons of the Style Show will be invited to trip the light fantastic to Bovolli's Orchestra, one of the best dance orchestras obtainable.

That fashion behind its mask of gaiety in this instance holds a sincere purpose will be made clear when under the direction of Mrs. John McLaughlin, who has planned the exhibit, will be shown a miniature panorama of a battlefield on which a Red Cross surgeon and nurse will give first aid to a wounded soldier.

Red Cross Committee.

Officers and members of the District Chapter of the American Red Cross Society, who form a committee for the Red Cross exhibit, include:

Admiral Mason, Gen. Davis, Henry R. F. Macfarland, H. S. Reeside, Mrs. W. J. Boardman, Mrs. W. H. Bayly, Miss Anna G. Greenlee, Dr. J. C. Boyd, Col. Hoff, J. S. Pease, Carroll Glover, J. Not McGill, Simon Wolf, and Corcoran Thom. The garments and hospital supplies made by Washington women who have contributed more needlework for the European Red Cross relief mission than the women of any other city in the United States, will be exhibited and demonstrated by Red Cross nurses in costume. This exhibit is under the supervision of the Red Cross committee, and the latest dances including the Ta Tao, Lulu Fado, the Brazilian Polka, the Canter, the Fox Trot, Maxine, a new one-step, and the Tango will be danced by Washington's foremost artists, for the instruction and entertainment of the style show patrons.

This afternoon Miss Mildred Anderson, a popular and well-known classical dancer, will give an original interpretation of "Pines of France" in costume. This evening Miss Ruth Parker and Myron Parker, Jr., will give an exhibition of the modern ballroom dances, and Miss Edna Baker, whose classical dances are the height of terpsichorean art, will render the "Fairy Soapbubbles."

Latest "Fads and Fancies." Tomorrow afternoon Miss Jessie Herriott, who was recently given a diploma from the Castle House, in New York, and whose ballroom dances have pleased many Washington audiences, with Charles Morgan, will give an exhibition of the latest fads and fancies in the modern dance.

Tomorrow evening Miss Anderson will contribute another new dance to the program, and Miss Herriott and Mr. Morgan will give several more of the dances that are sensations in New York.

Wednesday Miss Edith Spofford, who has just completed a special course in ballroom dances at the Castle House, and Ben Crampton, a popular exponent of the modern dance, will give several numbers of the latest dance concoctions. Miss Anderson will also give a new aesthetic solo dance.

The closing dance program will show Miss Spofford and Mr. Crampton in other "first time shown" dances, and Miss Baker will contribute a new and original classical dance in costume.

One of the most novel features among the number of interesting exhibits will be the corset display and demonstration held in the pink room. The Wells Gossard Company will introduce a French woman, noted as a model for her great beauty of face and figure, who will demonstrate to the women the great practicality and desirability of different styles of Gossard corsets.

Display for Milady's Wardrobe. Tolman, 111 H Street northwest, will have a handsome and large exhibit of women's gowns, wraps, and tailored suits. The latest concoctions for the wardrobe of the woman of fashion will be put on display by live models at Tolman's booth and will form one of the most attractive displays of wearing apparel at the show.

Shoes, which make or break a costume, will be displayed by Berberich Shoe Company on live models. Every new idea to make the foot gear of the fashionable woman comply with her modern costume has been carried out by the Berberich shoes and will be worn by Tribbles with perfectly shaped feet and ankles.

LIST OF PATRONESSES.

The list of prominent Washington women who, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Habel Boardman, are taking an interest in the style show and dansant, include the following:

Mrs. A. E. Bates, Mrs. W. J. Boardman, Mrs. Clinton T. Brainard, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, Mrs. E. C. Corbin, Mrs. Susan D. Dimock, Mrs. G. B. Davis, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Thomas Gaff, Mrs. Lindsey Garrison, Mrs. Preston Gibson, Mrs. C. C. Glover, Mrs. Eugene Hale, Mrs. Charles C. Hamlin, Mrs. Christian D. Hennick, Mrs. Hennen Jennings, Mrs. Rudolph Kauffmann, Mrs. Joseph Letter, Mrs. Ellis Logan, Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo, Mrs. Charles MacCawley, Mrs. Edward B. McLeah, Mrs. Henry May, Mrs. A. Garrison McClintock, Mrs. H. B. F. Macfarland, Mrs. Robert McCormick, Mrs. John McLaughlin, Mrs. N. E. Mason, Mrs. Adolph C. Miller, Mrs. Clarence Moore, Mrs. Theodore Noyes, Miss Mary Patten, Mrs. Robert Patterson, Mrs. Henry Cleveland Perkins, Mrs. H. S. Reeside, Miss S. L. Slocum, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Somers, Mrs. Corcoran Thom, Mrs. John Skilton Williams, and Mrs. Witherpoon.

Wilpan & Barnard Company, recently of Paris, will show smart models in ladies' tailored suits. Their wonderful French models will be the gossip of the Fashion Show.

And for men, whose fashions these progressive days change as often as those of the women, there will be a large and well arranged exhibit by Sidney West. On live models, this company will display the latest form in evening and afternoon costumes and a change of toilette will be made for every afternoon and evening session of the style show.

J. M. Stein & Co. have arranged one of the most attractive displays of custom-made tailored suits and overcoats for men.

Christine, whose big display of smart millinery and fashionable gowns promises to be a sensation at the style show, will also have some novel frocks for afternoon wear and for the dansant, shown on pretty live models.

One of the largest and most attractive displays of women's outer garments will be the exhibit by the M. Brooks & Co., the women's store. Evening gowns that are unsurpassed by any importer in Washington, street suits of rich and handsome material and stunning in cut and design, dancing frocks and tailored dresses will be shown on live models.

Furs in Height of Fashion.

Revelion furs, the height of fur fashions, Woolsey coats, and all the frills and furbelows to attract the attention of the modish woman will be on display by Smoot & Jelleff. Flimsy evening gowns, composed of rare lace and rich velvet materials, street dresses and handsome suits will comprise the costumes to be worn by the Smoot & Jelleff models.

Evening gowns for the ballroom and dinner wear of extreme beauty and smartness, afternoon frocks for the day, and the dance and separate waists, skirts and coats of fashionable cut will be exhibited by the Louvre on live models. The Louvre booth will be hung in a soft silver drapery, to better show off the beauty of the models and the costumes and promises to be one of the most interesting dress attractions in the show.

Margaret E. Scheetz, whose style in cosmetics and the culture dressing, comply with the styles in women's garments, will have an attractive booth in the Style salon and there show the fashionable women of Washington how to make up their complexions and coil their hair in the latest fashions. Four beautiful models will assist Miss Scheetz in demonstrating the use of her toilet preparations and in personal demonstrations for any other style show patrons.

The Neighborhood House, one of the most progressive philanthropies of Washington, will exhibit some beautiful models in women's clothes hand painted by John Sheridan Nellig, director of that institution. A beautiful velvet costume designed by a Washington society woman will be included in the exhibit, and a number of handsome evening wraps made at the Neighborhood House will be on display.

To Exhibit Musical Instruments. O. J. De Moll & Company, dealers in pianos, player pianos, and Victor victrolas, will demonstrate the various uses to which his musical instruments can be put, especially for dance music. This exhibit will be one of the main attractions.

Mme. Bear will have a picturesque exhibit of beautifully designed evening gowns and fancy dress costumes of unique and attractive styles.

Mme. Randall, whose reputation as a gians, relieved of the pressure against them by the change of the German front in the direction of Dismund, are reported to have made remarkable progress today. They are now ready to strike at the remaining German forces at Ostend in the rear while the British ships are bombarding them from the sea.

Submarines Are Active.

From Osterbeek, Netherlands, a dispatch today told of heavy firing being heard in the direction of Ostend, which was rapidly increasing in volume. Strong forces of troops in several columns are marching from Bruges in the direction of Ostend for the purpose of reinforcing the inadequate German garrison at that point.

Contrary to previous published reports, Rouleis is declared still to be in the hands of the Germans.

port and Ostend are incessant. Zeppelin activity continues but without damage to the Allies' ships so far as is known.

DEPLORES SOCIAL EVIL.

Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett Addresses Washington Secular League.

That the condition of the social evil in America is a greater tragedy than the war now raging in Europe was the statement made by Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, of the Florence Crittenton Mission, in her address to the Washington Secular League, yesterday afternoon.

She declared that the term prostitution should not only be applied to the poor down-trodden women of the street, but to the wealthier members of society who are able to hide their wrong doings.

Mrs. Barrett declared herself in favor of early marriages for girls in order that they might be protected from the sins of the world. She lamented the careless disregard shown for marriage nowadays by many persons.

KENYON STREET HOLE IS DANGEROUS PLACE

Accident Saturday Night Is Second and Emphasizes Need for Improvement, Is Belief.

That steps should be taken by the District authorities to improve the deep hole at Eighteenth and Kenyon streets northwest was emphasized Saturday night when Joseph Turner, of Baden, Md., and George King, Jr., of this city, plunged over the embankment in an automobile. This is the second accident in six months caused by this hollow.

At Emergency Hospital last night it was stated that Turner was improving. He is suffering from a broken shoulder and a splintered jawbone. Mr. King was bruised about the head and shoulders.

The hollow, which is nearly seventy-five feet deep, was created by the elevation of the surrounding neighborhood for the extension of streets in that section. A barrier was placed at the end of Eighteenth street, but it failed to prevent such accidents as occurred Saturday night.

Six months ago a taxicab plunged over the same ravine, but the occupants were able to jump clear of the car before it went over. The hole must be filled in eventually, and it is believed the accident Saturday night will hasten the work. At present the excavation is insanitary and dangerous.

In attempting to drag the automobile, which was not seriously damaged, Saturday night, out of the ravine yesterday, the rope snapped and the car fell to the bottom.

Mrs. Lockwood's Birthday.
The opening meeting of the Woman's National Press Association was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, in the Columbia apartment, Saturday evening. Incidentally, it was Mrs. Lockwood's birthday, and after the business had been dispensed with the members treated her to a surprise party.

NEEDS PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE.

Time in Man's Spiritual Life When He Trusts No One, Says Lecturer.

"The Initiations of Jesus" was the subject of the lecture delivered before the Washington Theosophical Federation yesterday by Miss Annie McQueen, of New York.

"There comes a time in the life of every man," she said, "when he is no longer willing to accept the word of another on the subject of spiritual truth; he can be satisfied only by personal knowledge, and when this point is reached there is sent to him a teacher who leads him to the entrance of the 'path of knowledge,' or the 'path of initiation.' Upon this path he is tested, and if found worthy, he receives from time to time definite accretions of spiritual perception, each one an 'initiation,' each one marked by increased spiritual power.

These Students Study Steers.

New Richmond, Wis., Oct. 25.—The students of the animal husbandry class of the New Richmond high school have purchased two grade Shorthorn steers and will go into the cattle feeding business on a small scale, carrying on this work along scientific lines in connection with their text-book work. The steers are stabled near the high school building, and an accurate account will be kept of weight, of food consumed, cost and increase of weight.

Rattlesnakes Spoil Sleep.

Pierre, S. Dak., Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Rector, living near Hayes, were aroused from sleep a few nights ago by a disturbance in their house. Mr. Rector located three large rattlesnakes. The intruders were dispatched without harm to the family.

VON CLAUSSEN COUNTESS AGAIN FOILS OFFICIALS

Correction Commissioner Davis Says Woman Who Threatened Roosevelt Evades Matetawan Once More.

New York, Oct. 25.—"I am not willing to concede that a woman prisoner has fooled me in a purpose of duty, but Mrs. Ida Von Clausen has managed to circumvent my every effort to get her back to Matetawan, where a jury and a lunacy commission both have said she belonged."

Katherine B. Davis, New York's woman commissioner of correction, made this statement in a tone of genuine feminine despair yesterday when told that Justice Burr, in Brooklyn, had refused to vacate a writ of habeas corpus, which grants Mrs. Von Clausen, a stay of commitment until November 2.

"I have no criticism to make of the judges who are responsible for the many delays in Mrs. Von Clausen's case," said Commissioner Davis, "but I do wish somebody would do things so a person under sentence could not obtain more than two or three visits in the same day."

"There can be no question about Mrs. Von Clausen's mental condition and it has been decided that Matetawan is the place for her to go. She asked me to visit her about a month ago in the jail, on which occasion she demanded her release that day saying she desired to see her attorney in the jail and almost threw him down the stairs."

"Mrs. Von Clausen has threatened Theodore Roosevelt, District Attorney Whitman, Judge Rosalinsky, and almost every politician of any note in the country. Last week she had a row with one of her attorneys in the jail and almost threw him down the stairs."
